WASHINGTON: TUESDAY, MAY 30, 1860.

COMMUNICATION.

IN THE SENATE.

Gentlemen: Every liberal mind whatever religions sects may have adopted, or whatever form of civil Government may have adopted, and who desires the welfare of the United States, cannot fail to be stimulated by the recent changes in our foreign affairs. The Republic of the United States is now recognized by every European power as an independent and equal partner in the commercial traffic of the world. The United States is no longer a nation to be despised or ignored by the great European nations.

The news of these changes has been received with the most universal joy and satisfaction. The people of the United States have reason to be proud of their country, and to feel confident of its future prosperity and greatness.

The news of these changes has been received with the most universal joy and satisfaction. The people of the United States have reason to be proud of their country, and to feel confident of its future prosperity and greatness.

WASHINGTON: WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1860.

COMMUNICATION.

IN THE SENATE.

Gentlemen: In the course of our deliberations, we have considered questions of great importance, and have reached some important conclusions. Among these is the question of the admission of new States to the Union.

The Senate has agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of California as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of California as a State is a matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of New Mexico as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of New Mexico as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Utah as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Utah as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Nevada as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Nevada as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Arizona as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Arizona as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Colorado as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Colorado as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Kansas as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Kansas as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Nebraska as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Nebraska as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Minnesota as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Minnesota as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Wisconsin as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Wisconsin as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Iowa as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Iowa as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Missouri as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Missouri as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of Arkansas as a State. This resolution has been approved by the House of Representatives, and is now pending in the Senate.

The admission of Arkansas as a State is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of 86.285: more States, each State having its own in the Union, and being an equal partner in the commercial traffic of the world.

The admission of these States is a matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The Senate has also agreed to a resolution authorizing the admission of these States is a matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The admission of these States is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.

The admission of these States is another matter of great importance, and will have far-reaching effects. It will strengthen the Union, and will add to the power and influence of the United States.
WASHINGTON
Tuesday, May 30.

Mr. McGinnis has been elected Mayor of the City of New York.

Measures are about to be introduced by the proprietor to relieve the New York Throat. The measure is to be introduced under the title of the New York Throat, and it is expected that it will be passed by the Legislature. The New York Throat is now at its highest level, and is expected to remain so for some time. The proprietor is encouraging the use of his remedy by offering a reward of $100 for the discovery of anyone who has taken the remedy and not been cured.

Constitutional Library—Towards the close of the last session of Congress, a bill was introduced by Mr. A. Smith, an agent of the Library, and publicly requiring that all subscribers to the Library, and referring to such books the word, "We," shall be considered as offering to such books the word, "We," shall be considered as offering for sale at a reduced price a copy of the American Library, a book which is extensively used in the United States.

The Library, as we understand it, is a joint-stock company, which requires subscriptions for its support. The American Library is the property of the subscribers, and the profits of the company are divided among them. The subscribers are required to pay a certain sum for each subscription, and the profits are shared among them according to their number of subscriptions.

The present state of the Library, as we understand it, is that it is in a very good state. The subscribers are well satisfied with the service rendered by the Library, and are willing to continue their subscriptions.

Mariners recently visited the United States, having arrived from the South American continent. They were greeted with a welcome of flowers and music, and were entertained at a banquet in their honor. The sailors were shown around the city, and were given a tour of the major landmarks and attractions.

FOREIGN NEWS

A responsible merchant has lately purchased a large quantity of cotton, which he expects to sell at a profit. His purchase was made through his agent in the United States, and he has entered into a contract with the seller to deliver the cotton within a certain period. The merchant is confident of making a good profit on this transaction, and is looking forward to a successful outcome.

From the Alhambra, Thursday, May 29.

The Alhambra is a famous entertainment venue in Madrid, known for its live performances of music, dance, and theater. It is located in the historic district of the city and is a popular destination for tourists and locals alike.

The Alhambra is known for its beautiful architecture and its rich history. It was originally a palace for the Moorish rulers of Granada, and later became a royal palace and a royal residence. Today, it is a cultural center and a popular tourist attraction.

The Alhambra is a great place to experience the cultural heritage of Spain and to enjoy the beautiful music and dance performances that take place there.

LATEST FROM BAKERSFIELD.

A friend has been heard from our correspondent in Bakersfield, who reports the latest news from that city.

The new duty of the tariff, according to our correspondent, has received much attention. Our shipping and transportation interests have been greatly affected by the new duties, and there is much discussion of the matter among the merchants and manufacturers of Bakersfield.

Mr. A. B. Adams, an expert on international law, has been appointed by the President to make a report on the matter of the tariff. Mr. Adams will study the effects of the tariff on the industries and commerce of the country, and will make recommendations to the President on policy that will be in the best interest of the nation.

WASHINGTON DAILY UNION.

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 25.

The President has announced that he will sign the tariff bill when it reaches his desk. This is an important step in the process of implementing the new tariff laws.

The tariff bill is a complex piece of legislation that affects many industries and regions of the country. It is hoped that the President's action will bring about a fair and equitable distribution of the duties, and that it will support the business interests of the country.

The President's decision will be greeted with混合 reactions, as some view it as a positive step towards economic stability, while others see it as problematic due to the potential effects on certain industries and regions. However, the decision is expected to be a significant step forward in the process of implementing the tariff laws.
NEW SALE OF VARIABLE LANDS.

The Republican County of Charleston, held at the Capitol, in the city of Charleston, the 21st March, 1825, a sale of variable lands, the price of which has been fixed by the Council of the said county, to be sold by public auction, as follows:

1. A certain lot of land, containing 500 acres, situate in...