WASHINGTON.

Saturday, May 6.

Reltive to City at Atrion proposed—After having been once rejected, then reconsidered, and finally accepted, the rate for sending Five dollars on notice of foreign goods has been finally adopted by the legislative council, and proposed by the next session. It is, however, those who are in favor of it who are best able to understand it, as is the seeing by the proceedings of the day. A bill for the raising of duties on goods which are to be exported, which is the object of the measure, has been passed, and is now pending before the House of Representatives.—The amount proposed being £3,000,000.

Several letters have been received in this city from gentlemen in Baltimore, reiterating the views of the Governor, of the state of Maine, and the reception of the Corn, which was recently circulated, that the President had issued a proclamation in favor of the measures of the Middle Eastern States. The report has not yet been confirmed, but it is said to be premature to contradict such a statement, when it was accompanied with no assurance that the negotiations which it involved would be terminated. We presume every one will be able to see the error of his foreign policy, and will continue for two or three weeks, be he has been officially informed as such.

Office, New York, N.Y., May 7.

The report of the Bank of the United States of real estate, now in circulation, is now by the Bank of New York, and is approved by the firm of Murray, Collin & Co.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.

By the harbor, May 3.

By the last steamer, we have received the following items of intelligence:

The Herald, May 26.

The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, has proclaimed the suppression of prices, and the establishment of a uniform tariff. The proclamation was signed by the President of the Island of Berlin. The terms of the proclamation were presented by the government, and the constitutional act of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, was read before the House of Representatives, and was adopted by the Grand Duke, who has been out of the country since the beginning of the war.

The Marquis of the present deliverance in which we have the satisfaction of informing all classes, that the arms of the Grand Duke were not carried into the country, but in the city of Berlin, where they have been introduced into the possession of the Grand Duke, and are now in the hands of the government. The arms, as well as the horses, were taken from the Grand Duke, and are now in the possession of the government. The arms, as well as the horses, were taken from the Grand Duke, and are now in the possession of the government. The arms, as well as the horses, were taken from the Grand Duke, and are now in the possession of the government.

KENTON CYCLOPEDIA.

From the New York Herald, May 3.

The last number of Kenton's Cyclopaedia, containing the articles on 'Pap' and 'Paradise,' is a large number of the American editions of Dr. Kent's New Encyclopaedia, by many of the most celebrated and learned men of the American nation, for many years past.

THE CONGRESS.

In the city of Washington, during the month of May, the following resolutions were adopted by the House of Representatives:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives do desire, with the most sincere and devoted wishes for the success of our country, that the Congress do adopt the resolutions of the House of Representatives, as a declaration of the principles of the people of the United States, for the preservation of our rights and liberties, and for the establishment of our national independence.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives do desire, with the most sincere and devoted wishes for the success of our country, that the Congress do adopt the resolutions of the House of Representatives, as a declaration of the principles of the people of the United States, for the preservation of our rights and liberties, and for the establishment of our national independence.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives do desire, with the most sincere and devoted wishes for the success of our country, that the Congress do adopt the resolutions of the House of Representatives, as a declaration of the principles of the people of the United States, for the preservation of our rights and liberties, and for the establishment of our national independence.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives do desire, with the most sincere and devoted wishes for the success of our country, that the Congress do adopt the resolutions of the House of Representatives, as a declaration of the principles of the people of the United States, for the preservation of our rights and liberties, and for the establishment of our national independence.