WASHINGTON:
CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, JUNE 11.

[Article discussing various legislative proceedings and events.]
WASHINGTON.

Tuesday, May 2

The great question, which has vexed the minds of the people of this country for many years, now seems to be settled. The Senate, by a large majority, voted to ratify the Treaty of 1818, which provides for the cession of the Oregon Territory to the United States. The House of Representatives, after a long and heated debate, also voted to ratify the Treaty. The President is expected to sign it at an early date.

The other important business of the session was the passage of the bill to extend the franchise to women. This bill was introduced by Senator Smith, and was supported by a large majority of the Senators. It was passed by the House with a slight majority, and is now ready to be signed by the President.

The Senate also voted to extend the term of office of the President from four to six years, and to provide for the election of a Vice-President by the House of Representatives in the event of the President's death or incapacity.

The House of Representatives passed a bill to repeal the gag rule, which has been in force for several years. The rule prohibited the discussion of certain subjects, and has been a source of great irritation to the people of the country.

The other important business of the session was the passage of the bill to grant the territory of Texas to the United States. This bill was introduced by Representative Jones, and was supported by a large majority of the Representatives. It was passed by the House with a slight majority, and is now ready to be signed by the President.

COMMUNICATIONS.

JAMES M. GROVE, of Wisconsin, for the First Reception of the American Society of the Union, who are now assembled in this city, is a most successful event, which re-vokes the sentiments of the breath, and is of great importance. The Society, in my opinion, is the best of its kind in the world, and will influence the character of the country.
